

Your best face forward

From perfect eyebrow shaping to the Majestic facial, get the inside word on pampering

For Shine Beauty founder Tania Turner, the pampering experience begins when clients walk in the door and doesn't end until they leave. She takes this philosophy so seriously her clients always end up with more pampering than they bargained for.

"It's really important to me that the staff (beauty therapists) don't leave the room so they can really pamper the client all the way through," she says. "For example, during a mask treatment the client is also getting a nice hand and arm massage, and a scalp massage with all of our facials."

Shine's signature facial – the Majestic – has taken more than seven years to perfect and Tania explains it is "a beautiful monthly one-hour treatment".

"It's really important to me that the client is pampered the entire hour during the Majestic facial," she explains. "We use different products to suit the skin types including Thalgo (a salon-exclusive line from France). What we use on the client is available for purchase as well, so they get to feel the product before they buy it. Prior to starting all treatments, we diagnose the skin, which enables us to talk to the client and use the correct products for their skin type."

Solution facials are also available, including hydration, calming, anti-ageing facial and purifying facials. Tania says all are extremely therapeutic and feature a lot of massage and only quality products. "With these facials they also receive a hand and arm massage, a foot and leg massage and a scalp massage in an hour and a half."

Shine's seven primary products and services include waxing, facials, massage, spray tanning, nail, and glamour treatments, along with a professional retail beauty product and consultation. "The main goal is to provide a spa environment in a shopping centre beauty salon," she says. "It's well priced, convenient and a pick-me-up. People emerge revitalised, focused, incredibly relaxed and more attractive."

To help clients feel like a million dollars after any facial, Shine offers a quick make-up application for a minimal charge. Hair is also covered extensively during treatment.

The staff at Shine also specialise in eyebrow shaping, using stencilling and taking time to adjust and correct eyebrows.

"We focus on the perfect eyebrow," Tania says. "A lot of clients come in with the wrong shape for their face, and we don't rush them through in a five-minute eye wax – we take the time to correct their eyebrows."
